【1】 次の英文を読んで問いに答えなさい。

Once upon a time there was a poor female farmer who lived ( ① ) her daughters. On their farm they had two pigs, two cows, a sheep and some chickens. ( ② ) (        ) (        ) (        ) (        ) was a *rooster named Chanticleer. The feathers on his head were a beautiful red color, his beak was blacker than night. He also had perfectly white nails, and all his other feathers shined like gold. He was also very good ( ③ ) keeping time. He would *crow the hour more *accurately than any clock or watch and he had a beautiful voice to crow with. He was an *extremely popular rooster, and all of the *hens in the yard loved him. But the hen he loved most was Pertelote, and she was ( ④ ) (        ) beautiful (        ) Chanticleer.

Every night, Chanticleer and Pertelote would sleep in the same place. This made all the other hens jealous. One night when all the chickens were sleeping, Chanticleer began to shout and jumped up. “Why are you being so loud in the middle of the night?” Pertelote asked. “I had a really bad dream,” said Chanticleer. “I dreamed that I was in our yard, eating corn. *Suddenly a dog-like beast came up ( ⑤ ) me. He was orange in color, but his ears and tail had a black tip, and his eyes were red like fire. I dreamed that he killed me then and there!” “It was just a dream, Chanticleer. Why are you so scared? Are you a child? I cannot love someone ( ⑥ ) is scared of dreams! Dreams mean nothing. You had a bad dream because you ate too much and now have a *stomachache,” said Pertelote. “You are too beautiful. If you tell me not to worry about dreams, then I won’t,” replied Chanticleer and they both went back to sleep.

Some months later ( ⑦ ) a beautiful spring day, Chanticleer was in the yard *chasing a butterfly. “I heard your lovely voice,” he heard someone say. When Chanticleer looked around, he saw a fox. It was standing by the yard fence. “Are you Chanticleer? I knew your father, and he had a beautiful voice too. He often sang for me. But when I heard your voice this morning, I knew you had ( ⑧ ) (        ) (        ) beautiful voice ever. Will you sing for me too?” asked the fox. Chanticleer was very happy. He thought it would be rude not to sing for the fox. So, Chanticleer straightened his back, stretched out his neck, closed his eyes and began to sing a song ( ⑨ ) his father taught him. Just as he was about to sing the first note, the fox jumped out and bit Chanticleer on the throat. The fox quietly carried Chanticleer off into the forest.

A few moments later Pertelote noticed that Chanticleer was missing and started to *scream. The farmer noticed the scream and looked out the window. The fox was carrying Chanticleer away by his neck. So the farmer, her daughters, the two pigs, the two cows, the sheep and all the hens chased after the fox. But the fox was very fast, and he ran deeper into the forest. "You cannot run forever," said Chanticleer. "Why don't you tell them that you are sick, then they will stop chasing you!" "That is a very good idea," said the fox. And just when the fox opened his mouth to speak, Chanticleer escaped and flew into a tree.

"Please come back down," said the fox. "I'm very sorry. It was an accident. ⑩ ( song / home / I / you / take / and / wanted to / your / listen to ). Your voice is so beautiful, and you are so handsome. Please come down and sing again for me!" But this time Chanticleer knew that the fox was telling him a lie to try and catch him again. So, Chanticleer waited in the tree until all his friends came and chased the fox away.
